

This is the first screen you will see when you launch the application. As stated in the present text, you must press the "Join" button and then connect with your Imgur account so that we can retrieve your information. With no fear, none of your information is saved.

After filling in your imgur information and agreeing to link the application to your account, you will be redirected to this view. It allows you to find all the news on imgur. Basically you only see the week's one but by pressing one of the buttons shown, you can change the period. You can also search for a particular theme using the search bar.

You may also see a bar at the bottom of your device. It allows you to navigate between the different views, all you have to do is press one of the icons to change view

Favorites

You will find here the list of your favorites

By pressing the icon in the middle of the view, you can choose an image from your gallery or take a picture with your camera (permissions can be requested, make sure you accept them if you want to use these features). Once uploaded, a message will indicate the success and you can repeat the procedure if you wish.

Here you will find your note, your username and your bio.

Remember that all pages, except your profile and upload, can be reloaded by scrolling at the top.
